Mommy Bloggers give Snazzy Lites colored clip-in hair extensions rave reviews

ATLANTA, November 14, 2010 – Snazzy Lites colored clip-in hair extensions continues to excite moms and their kids. Just recently, The Frugalicious Mommy, MommyPR and Mommy Blog Expert, blogs written especially for moms and their kids, touted Snazzy Lites for their innovation and color selection.

Snazzy Lites colored hair extensions come in a variety of brilliant hues. Made from human hair, each Snazzy Lites strand can be braided, curled and styled just like natural hair. The Frugalicious Mommy gushes, “Snazzy Lites are great for all ages! Now I can let my daughter feel like Hannah Montana without it being permanent! That makes us both happy.”

MommyPR also reviewed the innovative product on her blog with the strong statement, “These simple to clip in hair pieces stayed securely in place all day even through a trip to the park and a bike ride (complete with helmet)! With 14 bold, vibrant color choices you can delight just about any child AND it is temporary – pop them in, pop them out.”

Moms love Snazzy Lites because they encourage kids’ creativity and individuality. Janis Brett Elspas, creator of Mommy Blog Expert said, “My two teen triplet daughters (they also have a triplet brother) just love the hair extensions. They come in so many different pretty colors, too, that you could get some to go with practically any outfit in your closet. Just think of all the fashion possibilities,” Elspas adds.
